ACADEMY
CLASS OF 2018

A photograph of the exterior of the Boston Arts Academy building. The building is made of light-colored brick. A large sign on the facade reads "BOSTON ARTS ACADEMY" in white, three-dimensional letters. Above the sign is a row of four windows with white frames and blue-tinted glass. To the right of the main sign, a smaller red sign reads "Lenway high school" and "ENWA". A blue sculpture of a person is mounted on the wall above the windows. The entrance features a set of red double doors with glass panels. To the right of the doors, there are yellow and red balloons. The building is set against a clear sky.

BOSTON ARTS ACADEMY
PRESENTS

DANCING IN THE STREETS

Congratulations Class of 2018!

You have the great distinction to be the very last senior class in our original building at 174 Ipswich Street. I prefer to think of it this way: You were so great, that after you leave, we'll have to tear the place down! In all seriousness: I am amazed by all that you have accomplished. When I think back to those students I met at admitted family night four years ago and compare them to the people who will walk across the stage in June, I can't believe the transformation. I hope you are proud of your transformation as well.

I hope you will have fond memories of Boston Arts Academy. I hope you will go through life remembering lessons you learned at Boston Arts Academy. I hope you will always embody the shared values. And I hope you are proud to now be Boston Arts Academy alumni. You will always be part of our community, and we will miss you.

All my best, Ms. Clark

Senior Year

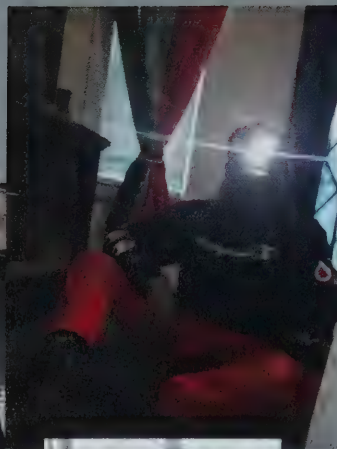

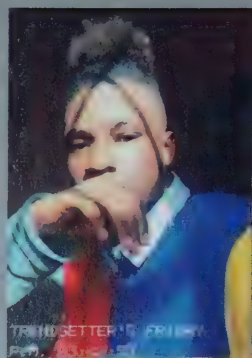

For me, high school was never about making friends, partying or skipping class. It was always about learning, and if I made friends or went to parties or skipped a class or two in the process, that that was cool too. Unlike many others, what mattered to me above teenage drama, rumors, who was wearing what, having a boyfriend, or being voted "best__", was self growth. In high school, and during these first eighteen years of my life, I have learned so many valuable lessons. It was these lessons that molded me into the women I am today and guided me towards becoming a filmmaker. It is these lessons that I will share with the world and the little girls ,like the one I once was, who know there is more to life than being apart of the status quo. Life will forever be about the journey now, the destination comes later God Bless, I wish you all love, prosperity, and happiness in everything you do in life.

Love,

"We see it all around us more and more every day -- people with power punching down. Taking lives when they don't have to. Meeting unarmed perps, even unarmed kids, with lethal firepower. That's the world we're inheriting, where violence does all the talking. But we can be better than that. We have to start enforcing justice without unjust force. What happened here today was sickening. And stuff as bad -- worse -- happens every day in this world. The strong abuse the weak -- who have to worry more all the time about who they can trust and who they can't. You want that to change? Us, too. We're in a war for a better tomorrow. Join us. Help us to not take the easy road, to not let them win. We'll fight every fight they can throw at us. Help us win the hard way. We can win. We can change this, not with words, but with action and hope. Help us to win this war." Kamela

Special Thanks to

Ms. Phyllis
Taylor Correia Podolske

To the class of 2018:

This class has been interesting to work with. As a whole, you are kind, respectful, and hard-working; driven to succeed. Individually, I've witnessed some of the sharpest wits, the snarkiest comments, and a reluctance to do more than the minimum. There may be jokes that they class of 2020 is unruly, but the class of 2018 is quietly disruptive and the type to plan a successful coup.

I wish you all the best of luck beyond BAA. Think positive thoughts, make due dates for yourselves, and remember that you can always reach out to your former teachers for help if needed. We've given you the tools you need to succeed, whether you realize it or not, but we're always here in case you need a hand.

With love,
